Tuesday, June 1, 2021 / 6:30 pm

This Forum for Dialogue and Learning examines the inevitable shifts to take place in our post-pandemic reality. We will explore mental health and social connection, and how we can help people transition back to an in-person way of life. Questions will be discussed such as: how do we wean our children/spouses/parents/colleagues off of screens? We will explore the shift in the business world and how some of the ways we have had to work during the pandemic have proven to be extremely effective for productivity while also allowing for a greater work/life balance. Lastly, we will take a look at what the world of leisure and entertainment will look like as we shift back to in-person experiences, and how the pandemic has impacted this industry. Don't miss this exciting discussion. Register today to hold your spot!

The event includes presentations and a Q&A panel session with local professionals in the field.
